Christmas

Auld Lang Syne: As New Year's Eve draws to a close, the follically challenged gather to sing of memories of their lost hair: Bald Lang Syne.

Catch It: "Sir, the horse broke loose from the stable!" "Don't just stand there! Cratchit!"

Chris Mess: Chronically an untidy person, in December Chris was always called "Christmas".

Christmas: A holiday-season test could be called a Quizmas.

Claustrophobia: Is the fear of Santa called Claustrophobia?

Claws: "Bad kitty! Don't sharpen your claus on Santa's leg!"

Come All: The Christmas carol most often heard in the deserts is O Camel Ye Faithful.

Deck the Halls: A friend recently finished work on a deck. I suggested that at Christmas he could put it on a flatbed truck. Then instead of "Deck the Halls" he could sing "Haul the Decks".

Deep and Crisp and Even: What is King Wenceslas' favourite pizza? One that is deep-pan, crisp and even.

Elvis Presley: Which of Santa's Helpers rocked the most? Elvis Presley.

Fa-la-la-la: The animal that is always overlooked at Christmas is the fa-la-la-la-llama.

Felt His Presence: How did Darth Vader know what Luke Skywalker got him for Christmas? He felt his presents.

For Giving and Not Forgetting: The Christmas of Reconciliation was memorable because Christmas is forgiving and not forgetting.

Ho, ho, ho: I saw Santa Claus in the gardening centre yesterday. He was checking out the ho-ho-hoes.

Holidays: Season's greetings from your florist: "Happy holly-days."

Hum Bug: After a tragic accident, the rock group "Singing Insect" became known as the "Humbug".

Knickers: Is Santa Claus' brand of underwear called St. Knickers?

Light: How can you make Santa Claus light? Stick his finger in the socket.

Mistle Toe: Instead of athlete's foot, Santa gets mistletoe.

Murder: I've always wondered, when Christmas rolls around, if we got frankincensed enough, would he commit myrrh-der?

Naughty: Why was E the only letter to get a Christmas present? Because all of the other letters were not E.

No L: ...i, j, k, m, n, o... is the Christmas alphabet because there's Noel.

Nudnik: A naked Santa is an annoying person because he's a nude Nick.

On the House: Why does Santa not have to pay for parking? Because it's on the house.

Past: How did Ebenezer Scrooge win the football game? The Ghost of Christmas passed!

Present: "Why did you give me a clock for Christmas?" "Because there's no present like the time!"

Rain Dear: "Do you think it will snow tonight, honey?" "No, I think it will reindeer."

Rap: At Christmas time, M.C. Hammer is a wrap musician.

Rip-Off: Christmas morning: The greatest rip-off of all time!

Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer: One night, a Viking named Rudolph the Red looked out the window and said "It is going to rain." His wife asked "How do you know?" He replied "Because Rudolph the Red knows rain, dear."

Santy Claus: Our health plan has nothing about mental health. There is no sanity clause.

Slays: Haw-haw! Christmas puns are so funny, they absolutely sleigh me!

Starbucks [coffee shop]: Elf: "Why are Dasher and Dancer always taking coffee breaks?" Santa: "They are my star bucks."

Stocking: Even before November, the merchants begin Christmas stocking the shelves for the rush.

Subordinate Clause: What do you call Santa's helpers? Subordinate clauses.

There's No Place Like Home for the Holidays: Always serve Eggs Benedict on a hubcap because there's no plate like chrome for the hollandaise.

Tin Sell: What decoration does a metal peddler put on a Christmas tree! Tinsel.

Tree: Would selling out a male Christmas tree seedling be considered tree-son?

You'll: If you don't behave yourself, yule get coal in your stocking.

You'll Be Sorry: For Christmas, I got my wife a wrap-around dress with a bee motif. She didn't like it. The sales clerk did warn me of this, when he called it a "Yule bee sari".

Expressions

Act Like a Nut: If you want to catch a squirrel, just climb a tree and act like a nut.

Ad Here: When a girl selling matches got caught in a downpour, she sought shelter under an awning. It was a match maiden heaven.

Afraid of That: "Do you have any books on phobias?" "Sorry, no we don't." "I was afraid of that."

Alienated: "Are you OK with a Vulcan helping you?" "Of course, why wouldn't I be?" "I was afraid that you'd feel alien aided."

All Your Eggs in One Basket: "I want 2 rubber seals, 3 plastic seals and one metal seal." "Don't put all your begs in one gasket!"

All's Well: The favourite Shakespeare quote in the Middle East: "Oil's well that end's well."

Any Means Necessary: "How should we stop the Mad Punster?" "By any means necessary!" "But any doesn't mean necessary!"

Aren't Much to Look at: The Invisible Man married the Invisible Woman. Their kids aren't much to look at, either.

Back Issues: I fell asleep last night while reading old magazines. This morning I woke up with back issues.

Backup Plan: If the Great Escape requires that the car go into reverse, and the gear breaks, do you need a backup plan?

Bang for Your Buck: A combination of hair salon and fireworks store could be called "More Bangs for Your Buck".

Bang for Your Buck: The motto of a discount hair stylist could be "More Bangs for Your Buck".

Bang for Your Buck: The motto of a discount deer rifle gun shop could also be "More Bangs for Your Buck".

Sublime: Sublime: An inferior citrus fruit.

Tactical: How to make a tack laugh.

Terminal Illness: When you are sick at an airport (or train station, or bus station...).

Science

Astronomy

A Real: That road accident made Ariel mess.

Altar: Where astronomers get married: the Altair.

Beetle Juice: The drink made from crushed insects: Betelgeuse.

Blue Toe: What astronomers have when they get frostbite on their feet: Pluto.

Calm It: The Great Bear was shot with Celestial Tranquilizer to comet down.

Capella: When astronomers sing, they do so a Capella.

Castor: What astronomers take Castor oil as a cure-all.

Cause Most: In photographic astronomy, the presence of the Moon will cosmos of the problems.

Crater: An astronomy grad student who packs things in boxes: Crater.

Crooks: Embezzling astophysicists are a bunch of Crux.

Despicable: The astronomer wasn't just loathesome, he was de-Spica-ble.

Eye-Open: Galileo's discovery of Jupiter's moons must have been a real Io-pener.

He Clips: "Fred is an excellent hedge trimmer." "Yes, eclipse them into interesting shapes."

Her Shell: It's not his shell, it's Herschel.

Holly: Astronomers' Christmas carol: Have a Halley Jolly Christmas!

Ink: My pen just ran out of Encke.

Kepler: An astronomer who kepples: Kepler.

Knowned: Incorrect past tense of “to know”: Node.

Lunch: Sign on NASA scientist’s door: “Out to launch.”

Mars: That observatory is ugly. It Mars the whole landscape.

Meaty-er: The cow is bigger and heavier, but is it meteor too?

More than Meets the Eye: There is more to a telescope than meets the eye.

Miser: The cheapskate astronomer is a Mizar.

Nap Tune: A ditty to put you to sleep: Neptune.

Near It: “Am I far from it?” “No, you’re Nereid.”

Oh Well: Lowell, I guess we won’t be able to see Pluto tonight after all.

Orbit: The day after the famous astronomer died, his orbit-uary appeared in the newspapers.

Orbit: Why did the astronomer yell when he was rowing? Because his oar bit him.

Over: My pet dog got run nova by a truck yesterday.

Over On: “Where did you put the book?” “Oberon the table there.”

Palace: The Astronomer King lives, naturally, on the asteroid Pallas.

Roar: The Northern Lights sound like lions because they’re auroras.

Rock It: What an astronomer does to a cradle: Rocket.

Rye Gel: The astronomer who mixed rye whiskey with jello got Rigel.

Sagittarius: I was surprised to learn that Bob Saget was born on May 17, and thus is a Taurus. I’d thought he’d have been a Saget-tarius.

Scientist: Does launching a blue spacecraft make someone a rocket cyantist?

Series: Astronomers and baseball can mix, witness the World Ceres.

Share And: Generous astronomers believe in the phrase “Charon share alike”.

Sole: He was the Sol survivor of the rocket explosion.

The Most: This has to be Deimos boring lecture on Mars yet.

Tie Tan: If an astronomer’s neckwear turns brown in the sun, does he call it a Titan?

Tied: Explaining the ocean’s motion left many astronomers fit to be tide.

Tighten: I don’t want NASA to Titan its budget again.

Torus: What astronomers call donut-shaped objects: Taurus.

Vague: When an astronomy problem is not clear, it is Vega.

Waste of Space: “Orion’s Belt is a big waist of space.” This is a three-star review.

When Is: Venus he coming to get us?

Wormhole: Why did the astrophysicist go digging in the dirt? She was looking for wormholes.

Yer Anus: The proctologists’ planet is Uranus.

You Put Her: Leave my girlfriend alone! Jupiter down this instant!

Chemistry

Basic: Studying the pH of solutions is a basic part of chemistry.

Ben Seen: “I want to report Ben as a missing person.” “OK, where was benzene last?”

Bigger: Motto of land developer: beaker is better.

BO [“Body Odour”]: Borates stink. They’re all about BO.

Bond: Many people wish for the day when a chemist’s word was his bond.

Brawn: Metallurgists are a balanced bunch - they have both brains and bronze.

Chemis-tree: On this tree the chemists grow: Chemistry.

Compound: For chemists, broken bones tend to be compound fractures.

Easter: A chemist's favourite rabbit is the Ether Bunny.

Easter: An anesthesiologist will dress up as the Ether Bunny before going into the boxing ring so that she could win by knock-out.

Elementary: "The name for the new trans-Uranic element should be Terry," said Professor Watson. "It's element-Terry, my dear Watson," said Professor Holmes.

Ethel: Would you buy a drink from a woman named Ethyl Alcohol?

Eye On: "I'm positive that I just lost an electron." "You'd better keep an ion that."

Ferris: The amusement park ride had to be made of iron because it was a ferrous wheel.

Final: Chemistry exams at the end of the year are phenol exams.

Freon: The Chemistry Nightclub has a cover charge when there are entertainers, but it's freon nights when there aren't.

He Stir: How does Fred mix the solution? Ester.

I'm Only A: How can you expect me to do all these problems? Ammonia little boy!

Insolvent: Chemists don't go broke, they become insolvent.

Laboratory: A Chemistry teacher gave a very skillful and inspiring lecture in class. It was a lab oratory!

Livid: Organic chemists get lipid with rage.

Neutralize: Why does the military use acid? To neutralize the enemy base.

PO ["Piss Off"]: Phosphates are annoying. They PO many of the elements.

Pro Pain: A chemistry prof in favour of torture is propane.

Pro Teen: A chemistry teacher in favour of teenagers is protein.

React: Old Chemistry profs never die, they just fail to react.

Salt: Some say chemistry profs are the salt of the earth; others say otherwise.

States: Police arrested a bottle of water because it was wanted in three different states: solid, liquid, and gas.

Chemistry- The Elements

A Lumen, Um: Aluminum, is a measure of, uh, light intensity.

Anti-Money: A chemist in favour of barter is antimony.

Are Gone: "Have the evil Chemistry Punsters left?" "Yes, they argon."

Arson Nick: Nick the chemist was also a pyromaniac. He was known in the underworld as "Arsenic".

Boron: If a dumb student is a moron, is a boring chemistry prof a boron?

Bury 'em: When a Chemistry prof dies, we have a funeral, then barium.

Business: In spite of the bank robbery, it was bismuth as usual.

Car-Bun: A chemist baked some rolls in the shape of automobiles. He called them carbons.

CD (Compact Disc): Did you hear about the heavy-metal band Cadmium? They've just released a new Cd at the Neon, you know the seedy club downtown.

Cold: The weather in Antarctica is quite gold.

Copper Night-Rate: Overtime for British policemen: Copper nitrate.

Crypt On: Chemists who design graveyards often put the krypton the right side.

Cure them: What chemical doctors do to diseases: Curium.

Fe [symbol for iron]: Iron Man's superhero chemist wife is called Fe-male.

Flatten 'em: "I'll knock down these buildings!" "You mean you'll platinum?"

Floor: The element that can be walked on is fluorine.

Heal 'em: What doctors do to sick chemists: Helium.

Hydro Gin: The power company's special cocktail: Hydrogen.

I dine: Iodine only at the finest restaurants.

I Rid 'Em: Motto of the chemist exterminator: Iridium.

I Run: Iron away from chemistry punsters.

Indian: An original inhabitant of North America: Indium.

Knee On: When kneeling to be knighted, a chemist must put one neon the floor.

Lead: A chemist can be lead to water, but cannot be made to drink.

Lead: The most gullible element is easily lead.

Manga Knees: A Japanese cartoonist makes the drawing of leg joints elementary, because they're manganese.

Night Row Gin: A drink to consume while rowing long after sunset: Nitrogen.

Right On: Slang for "You got it correct": Radon!

Rode 'em: What the chemist did with her horses: Rhodium.

Scan them: How a chemist digitizes photos: she Scandium.

Seal: The aquatic mammal that's also a chemical element is a Cl.

See None: "Do you see Waldo and his friends?" "I xenon of them."

Seize them: What the cops did to the chemist's illegal drugs: Cesium.

Silly Con: What you get if you put a comedian in jail: Silicon.

Silver: How did the Lone Ranger injure the fortune teller? He crossed her palms with Silver.

Sink: What a ship does when it's torpedoed: Zinc.

Sorry: Lipping chemists apologize with Thorium.

Sow Them: What does a chemist farmer do with her seeds? Sodium.

Stand Them [Tin's Latin name is Stannum]: Puns on tin? I can't stannum!

Suffer: Stoic chemists sulfur in silence.

Ten: The element that comes after nine: Tin.

Tie Tan: A chemist wanted neckwear that would turn brown in the sun, so she made it from titanium.

Tongues Ten: Chemists call ten tongues tungsten.

Computers

A Count: In status, account is between a peasant and a king.

Algol: A programmer's favourite star is Algol.

Apple: When a programmer's work begins to bear fruit, it's usually an Apple.

Bite: A computer programmer chops his food into byte-size pieces.

Com Piler: A person who stacks coms is a compiler.

Craze: A new fad or wild fashion in programming is called a Crays.

Curser: A swearing programmer can be called a cursor.

Decay: "Something is rotten in the state of Denmark" was written long before the Internet Protocol people assigned '.dk' to Danish websites.

Eunuchs: Male programmers who have lost their manhood are Unix.

Hooray: Three cheers for hacking! Hip, hip array!

Language: "@#*&^!?! programs!" "You watch your language!"

Lisp: When thomeone talkth like thith, he hath a Lisp.

Picks L: She never picks m or n for her variables, she always pixel.

Pro Gram: A person in favour of metric weights is program.

Ran Somewhere: Where did the cybercriminals go? I don't know, they ransomeware.

Sequel: The movie "Querying the Database 2" was a totally unnecessary SQL. (For "normal" people, SQL is pronounced "Sequel".)

Scream: When frightened, a common reaction of a person is to screen.

Truth: The judge told his dentist to pull the tooth, the whole tooth, and nothing but the tooth.

Geology

A Gate: How does a geologist get into a backyard? Through agate.

All Bite: If we albite rocks, we'll all lose our teeth.

Appetite: The mineral Apatite is the expression of hunger.

Aquarius: The people who are the best at digging rocks from the ground are born under the sign of Aquarius.

Basalt: When geologists season their mutton, they use baa-salt.

Coaled: Using “cold” as the incorrect past participle of “to coal” will get a frigid response.

Darn It: If you drop a rock on your foot while in polite company, you should say “Garnet all!”

Fault: My dad always told me, “Don’t be quick to find faults.” Good man, terrible geologist.

Floor Right: If I don’t get this fluorite, when someone walks in he’ll fall through to the basement.

Gab Row: All of the talkative geology students were put in one row, soon christened the “gabbro”.

Goal: When the geologist kicked the soccer ball into the net, she scored a coal, man.

Granted: Of all things, we must never take rocks for granite.

Graphite: When geologists fight with charts, it’s called a graphite.

Gyp Some: The con man tried to gypsum mineralogists with a fake ruby, but he got caught.

Landslide: A soils scientist was elected president of the Geological Society. Apparently, she won by a landslide.

Lime Stoned: Storting powdered citrus fruit got the geologist limestoned.

Magma: Although Mom was very fond of her volcanology periodicals, she’d erupt if you called her “Mag-ma”.

Mike A: “What shall we give Mike?” “Let’s give mica new mineral for his collection!”

Nice: You sent her flowers? What a gneiss thing to do.

On Its: Put Nick’s book onyx shelf where it belongs.

Pie Right: At the circus, a clown threw a fake rock at another and got a pyrite in his face.

Quarts: There are four quartz to the gallon.

Rubies: If a rube is a type of hick, does it follow that hickies are rubies?

See Light: How to insult a geologist: look into his ear and say “I scheelite!”

Sham Rock: It’s never a good idea to give a shamrock to a geologist, even on St. Patrick’s Day.

She’ll: I’ll tell her that rock puns are great, but shale just ignore me.

Shirt: The geologist played poker, but wound up losing his chert.

Sin Bar: The bar where mineralogists break the Ten Commandments: the cinnabar.

Spinal: Fracture of the spinel column usually results in paralysis.

Zir Con: When Fred Zir was swindled of his jewels, it was called the Great Zircon.

Mathematics

Add Thems: I wonder if mathematicians belong to the Add’Ems Family?

After Math: Aftermath comes History, then Geography and Chemistry.

Aftermath: Did the invention of calculus have an aftermath?

Algebra: What did the mermaid wear to math class? An algae-bra.

Ark: That which Noah built. Arc.

Asthma: People who get wheezy and short of breath when confronted with an equation have mathsma.

Axe ‘Em: What one does to trees that are in the way: Axiom

Axes [plural of axis]: With what do mathematicians chop wood? Axes.

Buy No Meal: I know a mathematician who couldn’t afford lunch. He could binomial.

Cat: The French number that catches mice is quatre.

Coat And: When the mathematician went out into the cold, she put on her cotan hat.

Cord: Geometers don’t use rope, they use chords.

Cosign: The mathematician needed a friend to cosine his loan application.

Counts: Math: the only subject that counts.

Course He Can't: Can a Humphrey Bogart turn into a banana? Of cosecant.

Crunching Numbers: There is a new breakfast cereal out for mathematicians called Toasty Numerals. It's for people who like crunching numbers.

Cube It: To multiply something by itself three times: Cubit.

Deck a Gone: What the Captain said when his boat was bombed: Decagon!

Descent: Who is ready for a dix-cent into the madness of French number puns?

Existential: In algebra, never let $x = 10$ or you'll have an existential crisis.

Function: Why did the mathematician only work from home? She could only function in her domain.

Gee, I'm A Tree: What a little acorn says when he grows up: Geometry!

Go Inside: What one does when it rains: Coincide.

High Pot In Use: A tall coffee pot perking is a Hypotenuse.

In Verse: Mathematical functions aren't very poetic, but their inverses are.

Inn Scribe: What you call a person who wrote for an Inn: Inscribe.

Irrational: Pi does not belong in philosophy. It's too irrational.

Lemon: A sour citrus fruit: Lemma.

Log Rhythm: The musical beat for cut tree limbs: Logarithm.

Loses an Eye: Square root of $-4 = 2$. For mathematicians, it's all fun and games until someone loses an i.

Meal: Which French number can feed the hungry? Mille!

Mini Mum: A very small mother: Minimum.

Number: While most puns make me feel numb, math puns make me feel number.

Odds Against: I was attacked by 1, 3, 5, 7, and 9. The odds were against me.

Pecans: It takes 15 French numbered nuts to make pe-quinze.

Pilots: Why do mathematicians like airplanes? They use pi-lots.

Polly Gone: An expression representing the loss of a parrot: Polygon.

Polly No Meal: When the mathematician's parrot gets hungry, it turns into a polynomial.

Pup in Da Cooler: A dog sitting in a refrigerator: Perpendicular.

Rectangles: What shape is found in messed-up junkyards? Wreck tangles.

Sank: The Titanic was like the French number five: it cinq.

Says: "I'm the master of French numbers!" "Says who?" "Seize me!"

Scent 'Em: What a bloodhound does while chasing a woman: Centre.

Seize: As the French numbers say, "Carpe Diem! Six the day!"

Set: I've collected all of the French numbers! I have the full sept!

She Can't: Can a female mathematician turn into a mushroom? No, secant.

Sign: A mathematician's pickup line at a singles bar: "Hey, baby, what's your sine?"

Sign Waves: What do mathematicians use at protest rallies? Sine waves.

Sir Kull: A knight of the Mathematical Round Table was Sir Kull.

Square Meals: The other shapes are cannibals because they eat three square meals a day.

Stop at Nothing: I hate negative numbers and will stop at nothing to avoid them.

Straight Line: What's the shortest distance between two jokes? A straight line.

Take it Away: Now for our next band, please welcome The Subtractions. Take it away, boys!

Take-Aways: When the Math Department has a meeting about subtraction, are there any take-aways?

Tan Gent: A (male) mathematician turned brown in the sun: Tangent.

The Vision: She wears glasses in Math class because it improves division.

Tore Us: Laughing too hard at doughnut jokes torus apart.

Trigonometry: The study of tree branch angles is twigonometry.

Uke Lid: The top of a mathematician's ukelele is the Euclid.

Unparalleled: My skills at drawing intersecting lines are unparalleled.

Victor: He won the race, so they called him the vector.

Wheat: French number bread is made from huit flour.

Wrecked Angle: When the triangle got into a serious car crash, it became a rectangle.

You Knit: What you do if you have yarn and needles: Unit.

You, Kid: In the movie Casablanca, if Rick had been a mathematician, he could have said "Here's looking at Euclid."

Meteorology

Brewing: I went into the kitchen and saw a hurricane making a pot of tea. I thought "hmm, there's a storm brewing."

Cloud: Past participle of "to clow": Cloud.

Convictions: "He really believes his theories on severe thunderstorms." "Yes, he is a man of strong convections."

Cy Clone: When Cy had a duplicate made of himself, it was called the cyclone.

Do: I hate water condensation problems! I never know what to dew.

Err: "To air is human, to forgive, divine."

Front: Given a choice, a weatherman always enters by the front door.

Gale: The most common name of women from the Windy City: Gail.

Grapple: It is sometimes difficult to graupel with the difficulties of cold rain formation.

Torn a Doe: Which of my deer pictures has he ripped? Oh, no! He's tornado!

Trowel: The weatherman pattered in his garden, using his trowal to dig out the weeds.

Twister: The party game that you shouldn't play during a tornado outbreak is Twister.

Whether: I've been debating weather or not to be a meteorologist.

Whirlwind: Would two tornado chasers get married after a whirlwind romance?

Physics

A Pear: The physicist's favourite Christmas carol is "The Twelve Days of Christmas" because of the partridge in ampere tree.

A Stomach: Billy was sent home from Physics class with atomic ache.

An Ion: If you add electrons to a neutral atom, you'll get anion.

Angst: The unit of measure of anxiety is the Angst-rom.

Boil: The best way to evaporate water is to Boyle it.

Candelabra: A brassiere that measures light intensity is a candela-bra.

Dine: “Would you like to have dinner with us?” “Yes, I’d be happy to dyne with you.”

Direction: The movie Speed (1994) incorrectly credits Jan de Bonts as director. If Speed had had any direction, it would have been called Velocity.

Force: A force is one step greater than a threecce.

Gravity: “Is it very serious?” “Yes, it is a matter of the utmost gravity.”

Home: A cowboy turned physicist likes to sing “Ohm on the Range.”

Leapt On: “The particle physicist jumped on the bandwagon?” “No, he lepton it.”

New Ton: That which replaced the old ton: Newton.

Plank: This piece of wood is not a board, it is a Planck.

Potential: “She has an average of 98% in all her Physics courses.” “Yes, she has great potential.”

Pro Ton: Someone in favour of 2000-pound weights is proton.

Relativity: Researching a family tree is studying relativity.

Resistance: The Borg in Star Trek believe in superconductors: “Resistance is futile.”

Row Tate: “Mr. Tate must be taken across this lake by this boat.” “You mean I have to rotate across?”

Short Circuit: NASCAR started a racing league for electric cars. People aren’t charged up about it because it’s a short circuit.

Sir Kitt: After Mr. Kitt had been knighted, he was called circuit.

What: Watt we need is more power.

Work: All quark and no play makes physicists a dull lot.

You’ll: “I’ll help you with quantum field theory if joule help me with thermodynamics.”

Sports

Baseball

All Out: Baseball teams should try hard to win, but they shouldn’t go all out.
